

Buy now from Wildy & Sons Ltd 020 7242 5778

or by calling Legal Risk LLP on 0345 330 6791

Cautionary Tales

lessons in ethics for lawyers

How do you get ethics to grip your partners and staff? War stories? Read this book of four short stories, all set in solicitors' offices, where day to day transactions raise intriguing ethical questions:

- What is the position on conflicts when you draft a JVA for joint clients ?
- Who takes the rap for a secretarial error ?
- Why would a solicitor keep cats out of their inheritance ?
- When is it okay for a lawyer to take an office cleaner to the cleaners ?

Where do you draw the line between ethical and unethical? The tales illustrate what can go wrong. Two of the stories are based on real events. The other two are fictional. But truth can be stranger than fiction, and the author challenges the reader to tell them apart.

Reviewers have said

"An excellent read"

Iain Miller, regulatory specialist at Kingsley Napley, in the Solicitors Journal

"A cast of completely and depressingly recognisable characters"

City firm General Counsel

"Delightfully written"

Senior commercial partner

"The author's brainwave is to have spotted the valuable role that fictional storytelling can play in legal ethics training."

Legal Compliance Association

Available from Wildy & Sons Ltd at £7.99

ISBN: 9781526204332